This is one of the MOST SUMPTUOUS WORKS of ART that has appeared for many years, EACH PAGE in the first Volume is an actual FACSIMILE REPRODUCTION in all the GORGEOUS COLORS of actual PICTURES in Missals, Breviaries, and MSS. from the EARLIEST TIME, and many of them of priceless value, preserved in the Public Libraries and Museums on the Continent and elsewhere. The Second Volume consists of Lives of the Saints, an Account of the different MSS. from which the pictures have been taken, and is beautifully illustrated with Photographs and elegantly executed woodcuts, illustrating the Dance of Death, Emblems, &c.

The work was originally published at about £80, and the publisher was ruined in consequence of the enormous expense.

It would prove invaluable to the Artist or the Designer, while to the Collector of MSS. it would be a source of inconceivable pleasure as he would by the aid of this work have the gratification in knowing that although it is impossible to possess the originals, he has here the most perfect facsimiles that it is possible for Science, Art, or Money to produce.

This copy unfortunately wants the first 10 pages of the list of Subscribers and sheet 11 (2 leaves) in the second vol, otherwise it is in perfect and clean condition. Complete copies sell for £50.

Cambridge, T. Buck and R. Daniel, 1638

This beautifully-printed edition is said to have been revised by the King's command, by several learned men of Cambridge, Dr. Ward, Dr. Goad, Boyse, Mead, etc, Probably this was the Bible in which Buck and Daniel challenged the whole of Cambridge, by a bill fixed over the door of St. Mary's Church, that if any scholar could find any literal fault in it, he should have a Bible for his pains.

This edition is also remarkable as being the first in which the text, Acts vi. 3, "whom we may appoint," is rendered, "whom ye may appoint." This erratum has been attributed without foundation to the Independents and Presbyterians. There are other examples in this edition, which remained the standard Bible until 1769. A long account is given in Loftie's Century of Bibles, 1611 to 1711.

629 Chaucer.—Amorum Troilli et Cresidæ libri duo priores Anglo-Latine, per Francis Kinaston. The Latin and English on opposite pages. 4to, black letter, modern calf neat. £1. 15s

Oxon., 1635

Chaucer's "Troilus and Creseide" was the first example of a regular narrative poem, on a large scale, in the English language, and may be regarded as our oldest epic. It was reverenced as the earliest work in which the powers of English as a cultivated language were developed. This translation is deemed a literary curiosity, and one of the most successful specimens of a rare species of composition.

630 CHAUCER.—Contes de Canterbury, traduits en vers Francais par le Chevalier de Chatelain. 3 vols, thick 12mo, portraits and plates, cloth. 9s London, Pickering, 1857

Freeling's Collection.* £5. 5s (1641)

The first tract is a powerful satire against the hypocrisy of "sanctified shuttle-headed weavers, long-winded box-makers, and rounded-headed button-makers" overcome with new wine, lately come from New England, who afterward destroyed this grand ornament of the city. It is written in a style far superior to the productions of the day. The answer is very inferior, and in the true Puritanical style of the time. See note by Sir Francis Freeling, who adds that all tracts on this subject are scarce.

634 CHEAPSIDE CROSSE censured and condemned by a Letter from the Vice-Chancellor of Oxford in answer to a question propounded by the Citizens of London concerning the said Crosse in 1600, in which year it was beautified. DRAMATIC HISTORY :—

059 PRYNNE (Wm.) Histrio-Mastix ; the Player's Scourge or Actor's Tragœdie in Two Parts, wherein it is largely evidenced by divers Arguments in Scripture and of Eminent Divines of all sects as well as Heathen Philosophers, that Popular Stage Plays are Sinful, Heathenishe, Lewd, ungodly Spectacles, and most pernicious Corruptions, etc., with sundry particulars concerning Dancing, Dicing, Healthdrinking, etc. Thick 4to, half calf, very scarce, one leaf wanting and another defective. £1. 5s 1633
The author, for writing the above, was prosecuted by the Star Chamber and fined £500, to lose his ears, and stand twice in the Pillory ; the chief accusation being his calling "Women Actors notorious Whores," which was said to apply to the Queen, who had taken part in a Pastoral some little while before the publication of this work ; but the most curious thing regarding it is that it was formally licensed by Archbishop Abbot's Chaplain.—RUSHWORTH'S Historical Collections.

060 DRYDEN (John) Of Dramatick Poesie, an Essay. FIRST EDITION, 4to, half morocco. 10s 6d 1668

The rarity of this play, apart from its merits, which are by no means of a common order, caused a limited reprint in Edinburgh in 1871. A copy of the original was sold in 1797 for £1., and Thorpe gave £4. 14s 6d for one in 1827. The reprint of which only 75 copies were done, contains a most interesting chapter on the Early Scottish Drama, by W. H. Logan.

Oxford, 1678

"Acted by the Boys at a Publick School at a Breaking-up." The author, a native of Monmouthshire became master of the Public School at Evesham in Worcestershire, and it was for that school the piece was written. It is remarkable as being composed without women's parts, the author not thinking female characters fit to put on boys. The prologue is in parts, spoken by four boys.

1245 COUNTERFEITS, a Comedy? by J. Leonard. 4to, half morocco. 5s 1679

This play is interesting as having been written at the house of Southern and the author received hints from him. When shown to Cibber the latter petulantly advised the author to engage in some honest labour; the public, however, held a contrary opinion, as the play became very popular, and the author realised no less than a thousand pounds by this his first attempt.

1281 JACK SHEPPARD.—The Prison Breaker, or Adventures of John Sheppard, a Farce, as intended to be acted at the Theatre Royal, Lincoln's Inn Fields (Founded on the exploits of this celebrated House-breaker). 8vo, half morocco. 5s 1725

1314 DRYDEN.—FACTION DISPLAY'D, a Poem. 4to. 3 170

Supposed to be by Dryden, the real names are filled in by a contem porary hand.

No jests nor puns deform the studied page,
But all is manly thought and noble rage.

1315 DRYDEN.—Dufresnoy's Art of Painting, translate with an original Preface by Dryden; also an account of the mo eminent Painters by Richard Graham. 8vo, frontispiece. 4s 6 171

Dryden was conscious of the imperfection of his work, begun and end in twelve mornings. Perhaps, says he, the judges of Painting and Poetr may make me the same remark which my late Lord Rochester made one, who, to commend a tragedy said it was written in three weeks. "Ho the devil could he be so long about it, for that Poem was Infamous Bad."

1317 DU BARTAS, his Divine Weekes and Workes, with a compleate collection of all his other works, translated and written by JOSHUA SYLVESTER. Folio, engraved title by Elstracke & portrait, also the large folding leaf, fine copy in new crimson morocco extra. £3. 15s 1633

Two extraordinary Tracts in a volume. 8vo, half calf. 15s

1326* DUNTON (John) Athenian Sport, or two thousand Paradoxes merrily argued. 8vo, calf neat. 9s 1707

Every man corporally born twice, no mans sees but he that is stark blind, the restored maidenhead, or a marryed woman may be twice a virgin, recreation of pre-existant spirits, what we call life is natural death, the kindest women the most cruel, and many other similar paradoxes. A most entertaining old book, full of singular tales and quaint jokes.

1327 DUNTON (John) The Athenian Oracle, being an entire collection of all the valuable questions and answers in the Old Athenian Mercuries, with many cases in Divinity, Mathematics, Love and Poetry. 4 vols, 8vo, neat. 12s 6d 1727

This set comprises the supplemental volume published in 1710, containing a History of the Society, and an Essay on all sorts of Learning.

And as you like, he'll furnish you with more.

The Wits, or Sport upon Sport, 1662.

This Catalogue will be issued at short intervals, and will when completed, comprise over 500 pages. Any buyers from it, who think it worth preserving, on forwarding me their parts on its completion, I will neatly bind them gratis, with Title and Index.

1719 GAGES OF BATTLE.—Cérémonies des Gages de Bataile selon les Constitutions du Bon Roi Philippe de France, Publiées d'après le Manuscrit de la Bibliotheque du Roi. Roy. 8vo, illustrated with beautiful facsimile plate of Ancient MSS. of the 14th Century, new half morocco, gilt top. 15s Paris, 1830

1720 GAMBLING.—The Academicians of 1823, or the Greeks of the Palais Royal and the Clubs of St. James's giving an account of the various games, and a long essay on the DOCTRINE OF CHANCES, by Charles Persius. Post 8vo, coloured frontispiece, boards, 3s 1822

1721 GAMBLING.—Academy of Play, containing a full Description of, and the Laws of Play in the Academies of Paris, translated from the French of Abbe Bellecour. 12mo, neat. 3s 6d about 1780

Contains 39 games at cards, as then played at the gaming houses and clubs.

1722 GAMING.—The Ill-Effects of the Game of Rowlet, or Rowley-Powley, and the Fatal Consequences attending it, particularly in and about Covent Garden, by Amos Docultree. 8vo, half morocco. 5s 1744

A diatribe against the gaming houses that at one time infested the neighbourhood oi Covent Garden. Rowlet was played with a ball on a table, but I do not find the game described in any of the dictionaries. The gamesters, of course, dropped a great deal of money for the "good of the house."

1723 GANDY (Joseph, Architect) Designs for Cottages, Cottage Farm, and other Rural Buildings, including Entrance Gates and Lodges. 4to, more than 40 plates, boards. 4s 6d 1805

3553 NUMISMATA CROMWELLIANA; or the Medallic History of Oliver Cromwell, illustrated by his Coins, Medals, and Seals, by Henry W. Henfrey, F.R. Hist. Soc., etc., author of a 'Guide to English Coins.' Fine plates, 4to, cloth. £1. 5s 1877

In this work, a complete historical description of all the Coins, Medals, and Pattern Pieces of Oliver Cromwell is attempted for the first time. Vertue, Snelling, Folkes, and Ruding, have all left but very imperfect notes and sketches of Cromwellian numismatics, and Mr. Hawkins never published anything on the subject; thus many vexed questions have not yet been properly discussed.

The collector and student of English Coins will find amongst the numismatic information, many facts, details, and elucidations which are absolutely unpublished; and the numerous Autotype plates will furnish the first correct, and in some instances, the only illustrations yet published of many pieces.

Contains the Readings of all the Old and Modern Editions, the Notes of all the Commentators and Critics, both English and Foreign, from the time of Rowe, Theobald, Capell, Johnson, Steevens, Reed, and Malone, down to the present, and Reprints of all the different early editions of each play.

It is now more than 50 years since the last variorum Shakespeare by Malone was published, and the aim of the present edition is to bring together in a condensed form all the notes and criticisms on doubtful passages which would require a search through a great number of volumes involving no small quantity of labour and delay. They are here presented on the some page in connection with the difficulties which they explain, so that one has at a glance the elucidations of the older editors along with those of Knight, Singer, Collier, Ulrici, Delius, Dyce, Hudson, Staunton, White, Clarke, Keightley, Halliwell, and Walker.

5682 TRIAL of JOHN and LEIGH HUNT on a Charge of Libelling the Prince Regent, with Observations on the Trial by Leigh Hunt. 8vo, half morocco. 10s 6d 1819

At one bold stroke the liberty of the Press was finally secured by this trial, true the defendants were fined £500 each, but public opinion was so strong in their favour, that although the price of the Examiner was doubled for the purpose of paying off the fine, the paper sold in such increased numbers for one shilling, that the fines were quickly cleared. This is saying something for opinion on the Prince Regent, when people in those times cheerfully paid a shilling for what they can now buy for a penny.

6005 AVONA, or a Transient View of the Benefit of Making the Rivers of this Kingdom Navigable, occasioned by observing the Situation of the City of SALISBURY upon the Avon, and Consequence of Opening that River to the City, by R. G., 8vo, uncut, half morocco. £1. 10s Sarum, 1675

Whether the R. G. in this copy be a correction, or an arbitary and unnecessary alteration, time and future research must determine. Gough in his British Topography, vol 2, p. 366, and the Bodleian Catalogue, both place it under R. S., the latter indeed gives it an erroneous date "1677," but the date has been rendered illegible by the binder's knife in the Bodleian copy, and there was probably no means of reference, for this Tract is so extremely rare that Mr. Gough had it not in his very extensive collection.—MS. note.
